TWELVE YEARS A SLAVE

Prabhat Prakashan "Having been born a freeman, and for more than thirty years enjoyed the blessings of liberty in a free State—and having at the end of that time been kidnapped and sold into Slavery, where I remained, until happily rescued in the month of January, 1853, after a bondage of twelve years—it has been suggested that an account of my life and fortunes would not be uninteresting to the public." -an excerpt

SPORT AND SOUTH ASIAN DIASPORAS

PLAYING THROUGH TIME AND SPACE

Routledge This original collection demonstrates the importance of sporting practices, spaces and leisure affiliations to understanding issues around identity, (post-) migration, diaspora and transnationalism for global South Asian populations. The chapters provide a critical (re-) examination of the roles that sport plays within and in relation to South Asian groups in the diaspora, and raises a series of pertinent questions regarding the multifarious relationships between sport and South Asianness. The chapters range across a wide variety of disciplines, regions, sports and identifications. They are in conversation with each other while showing the particularity of each diasporic context and relationship to sport. The book encompasses a number of global contexts from the "homeland" (India, Pakistan, Afghanistan) to the diaspora (Fiji, Norway, the US, the UK), and addresses a broad range of sporting contexts, including basketball, boxing, cricket, cycling, field hockey, soccer and golf. The chapters combine a range of qualitative methods, including ethnography, auto-ethnography, participant observation, memoir, interview and textual analysis (film, television and print media). This collection comprises the latest cutting edge research in the field, and will be essential reading for scholars and students both of sport and South Asian diasporas. This book was published as a special issue of South Asian Popular Culture.

MARGINALISED COMMUNITIES IN HIGHER EDUCATION

DISADVANTAGE, MOBILITY AND INDIGENEITY

Routledge "Drawing on examples from nine countries across five continents, this book offers anyone interested in the future of higher education the opportunity to understand how communities become marginalised and how this impacts on their access to learning and their ability to thrive as students. Focusing on groups that suffer directly through discriminatory practices or indirectly through distinct forms of sociocultural disadvantage, this book brings to light communities about which little has been written and where research efforts are in their relative infancy. Each chapter documents the experiences of a group and provides insights that have a wider reach and gives voice to those that are often unheard. The book concludes with a new conceptualisation of the social forces that lead to marginalisation in higher education. This cutting-edge book is a must read for higher education researchers, policy makers, and students interested in access to education, sociology of education, development studies, and cultural studies"--

REVISED LIGHT

"For what is faith but hickory smoke/and continuity, one of these hills running/into the next, never-ending?" Sharon Ackerman asks in her gorgeous new collection, centered on the Appalachian Mountain community of her grandparents. Novelist Pat Conroy contends our history is our geography, and Ackerman maps her childhood here in these lyrics, recording every detail of that world. It's the ground of her making, despite where she has lived for most of her life. "The ground has final say," she says, and so it does, and it "...calls out names to the verge/where stars disappear/and return young again." No matter where you call home, these poems call you there, with a longing like no other. ~ Rita Sims Quillen, author of Wayland and Some Notes You Hold--
