THE TRAVANCORE STATE MANUAL

A SUITABLE BOY

Acclaimed as one of the greatest novels of the last century, Vikram Seth's A Suitable Boy remains, twenty years after publication, one of the most entrancing and spellbinding works of fiction yet written. A love story as well as the tale of a country awakening from long years of colonial rule, it tells of Lata, and of her mother's exacting attempts to find her the perfect husband. It also recounts India's troubles shaping its own destiny as the country marches towards its first great General Election. It is a story that readers the world over can neither put down nor ever forget. 'Fiction on a grand scale. By the time you reach the last page you will have absorbed a splendid story, full of the tangle and perfume of India.' Sunday Telegraph 'Vivid, evocative and beautifully written.' Literary Review 'No one, surely, could wish this novel shorter. The greatness of the novel, its unassailable truthfulness, owes less to research than to imagination, an instinctive knowledge of the human heart.' Observer 'This novel, so vast and so amiably peopled, is a long, sweet, sleepless pilgrimage to life.' Guardian 'A phenomenon, a prodigy, a marvel of nineteenth-century style storytelling.'

UNKNOWN BODIES: MOTHERS DAUGHTERS AND ADOPTION

The dramatic story of one woman's determined surprising search for her birth parents and commitment to creating her own family Madison WI- Janine Veto's "Unknown Bodies: Mothers Daughters and Adoption" is a brutally and beautifully honest story that begins on a Villa Park, Illinois, playground when her playmate calls her "bastard." Until then she thought being adopted was happily special. Her life had been privileged, secure and typically 1950s American: Dad, mom, brother, church on Sunday, lakeside summers in northern Wisconsin. Suddenly Veto felt she was "misplaced." The need to find her so-called "real parents" grew. It was a need that would take decades as well as drive, cunning, a little thievery and a lot of spunk. It also was a need fueled by alcohol, sex and disillusion. Set in the arts and philanthropy worlds of Chicago and New York as well as an Iowa farm, a Denver sports bars and a Midwestern university town, it is memoir of a Boomer in search of her identity in the rapidly changing landscape of America. "Unknown Bodies" explores the meaning of mother, both as noun and verb, and identity. It continues, on a deeply personal level, the debates about closed vs. open adoption and nature vs. nurture. Accented with her own poetry, Veto writes with candor and insight that is distinctly her own but relatable to adoptees and enlightening for non-adoptees. Ultimately, the message of "Unknown Bodies" is love; the unconditional love of Veto's adoptive parents, accepting and forgiving love for her broken "real parents", and the bonding love between Veto and her own adopted daughter.
