Why

A Guide to Finding and Using Causes

"O'Reilly Media, Inc." Can drinking coffee help people live longer? What makes a stock's price go up? Why did you get the flu? Causal questions like these arise on a regular basis, but most people likely have not thought deeply about how to answer them. This book helps you think about causality in a structured way: What is a cause, what are causes good for, and what is compelling evidence of causality? Author Samantha Kleinberg shows you how to develop a set of tools for thinking more critically about causes. You'll learn how to question claims, identify causes, make decisions based on causal information, and verify causes through further tests. Whether it's figuring out what data you need, or understanding that the way you collect and prepare data affects the conclusions you can draw from it, Why will help you sharpen your causal inference skills.

Sams Acceleration Measurements on Mir from May 1997 to June 1998 (NASA Increments 5, 6, and 7)

Createspace Independent Publishing Platform During NASA Increments 5, 6, and 7 (May 1997 to June 1998), about eight gigabytes of acceleration data were collected by the Space Acceleration Measurement System (SAMS) onboard the Russian Space Station Mir. The data were recorded on twenty-seven optical disks which were returned to Earth on Orbiter missions STS-86, STS-89, and STS-91. During these increments, SAMS data were collected in the Priroda module to support various microgravity experiments. This report points out some of the salient features of the microgravity acceleration environment to which the experiments were exposed. This report presents an overview of the SAMS acceleration measurements recorded by 10 Hz and 100 Hz sensor heads. The analyses included herein complement those presented in previous Mir increment summary reports prepared by the Principal Investigator Microgravity Services project. ## Developmental Biology of Neoplastic Growth

Springer Science & Business Media In this book, tumour growth is perceived as a deviation from the normal development of the human organism. The molecular, cellular, and tissue determinants of different tumours are discussed showing that each is a different disease, often corresponding to a particular developmental stage. The natural history of several cancers illustrates how clinical incidence can be just the visible part of the iceberg, while the first changes at the tissue level sometimes occur several years before tumour growth becomes manifest. Several mechanisms are proposed to explain the distribution of cancers during the human life span and the decline of the incidence of cancers during human senescence.

Organ Procurement and Transplantation

Assessing Current Policies and the Potential Impact of the DHHS Final Rule

National Academies Press Each day, nearly 60 Americans receive a transplanted kidney, liver, or other organ—a literal "second chance at life"—but 11 others die waiting for an organ transplant. The number of donors, although rising, is not growing fast enough to meet the increasing demand. Intended to improve the current system of organ procurement and allocation, the "Final Rule," a 1998 regulation issued by the U.S. Department of Health and Human Services, sparked further controversy with its attempts to eliminate the apparent geographic disparities in the time an individual must wait for an organ. This book assesses the potential impact of the Final Rule on organ transplantation. It also presents new, original analyses of data, and assesses medical practices, social and economic observations, and other information on: access to transplantation services for low-income populations and racial and ethnic minority groups; organ donation rates; waiting times for transplantation; patient survival rates and organ failure rates leading to retransplantation; and cost of organ transplantation services.

Clusters in Automotive and Information & Communication Technology

Innovation, Multinationalization and Networking Dynamics

Springer Science & Business Media Information & communication technology (ICT) and the automotive sector are two of the most important industries in the EU and the US. The EU's eastern expansion and economic globalization have reinforced competition on the one hand; on the other hand the importance of outsourcing and off-shoring has increased. Against this background the intensification of innovation dynamics becomes crucial – and with them the role of regional innovation clusters. The analysis examines seven regions and six EU countries. The focus is on cluster and network dynamics in both industries, as regional ICT clusters are playing an increasingly central role in many European regions. Specialization and structural change in the automotive sector are highlighted, and new strategic approaches for multinational companies and changes in policy options are identified.

Leadership and Organizational Behavior

Cognella Academic Publishing The anthology Organizational Behavior: A New Three Dimensional Leadership Paradigm introduces learners to the complexities of effective leadership, organizational behavior, and strategic planning. Over the course of the book the material addresses leadership types and functions, organizational change, capacity building, strategic planning, a three dimensional leadership model, and three "E's" of leadership -emotional intelligence, empowerment, and ethics. Each chapter includes special features that enhance learning. Investigation activities such as field work, mini-projects, and recommended reading and research allow students to delve more deeply into the topics. "Lessons Learned" segments highlight key aspects of the topics from the perspective of the author/editor's personal learning and success. Targeted discussion questions encourage classroom discourse or can be used for individual reflection. Authentic assignments and case studies prepare students to be organizational leaders. Organizational Behavior compiles the best ideas on organizational leadership and connects them using an original, three dimensional paradigm. This anthology is well suited to classes on educational leadership, and can also be a useful tool for any organization pursuing a program of professional development.

Our Stories, Our Truths

Why couldn't Taiwan attend the 73rd World Health Assembly while Taiwan has handled COVID-19 pandemic excellently? Why is Taiwan not allowed to join the UN and its specialized agencies and related organizations? How come China claims that Taiwan is part of China? This story will show you the historical reason. This story involves gender bias, sexual abuse, gangsters' violent crime, and ethnic and cultural conflict during a turbulent era of the second half of the twentieth century in Taiwan. Three sisters were given away by their parents. Ciou-Tao was adopted as a daughter by an impoverished family, and Ciou-Jyu and Ciou-Lian were fostered to be shim-bu-a. What is shim-bu-a? Three brothers all suffered violence, to be killed or on the blacklist. What caused their fate? How did Mei-Ling and Mei-Ai find out that the Chinese veteran, Uncle Huang, was their mother's favorite person in the world, and Uncle Wen-Hua was murdered by the government? Why did Mei-Ling say that people in Taiwan were like frogs kept in the well by the government? These three generations' stories were also all Taiwanese people's stories because they once all lived with the same lies and fear. It started from here. Because the Chiang Kai-shek regime was kicked out of China, they needed a place to stay while they were in exile. Hence, they utilized an enormous lie to stay in Taiwan as a legitimate government. Then, they told more lies to secure their absolute power and punished anyone who might destroy that power on the island. What were the lies that Mei-Ling and Mei-Ai found out? Which truth broke their hearts and motivated Mei-Ling to write Our Stories, Our Truths?

Saving My Family

Elise Sanders is an 18 year old daughter of a farmer. At the age of 18 all female heirs of mistresses and servants need to participate in a choosing ceremony between the tri-kingdoms. The noble men and soldiers get to choose the woman they wish to basically purchase as either their mistress or wife. As much as she hates this tradition, Elise needs to participate to help keep her family from starving to death. Brent Tuner is the third son of the king in Tymas. Because he is the third son, he will only be a Duke, so his father is forcing him to participate in the choosing ceremony to find his wife. He reluctantly attends with the plans to only chose a mistress from this group of woman. That is until one woman sparks intrigue. Will he make her his wife, or will he hold to making her only his mistress? Will Elise be chosen and be able to get money to save her family?
